Boral Marulan South Limestone SSD Application : Clarification

Boral has become aware there is concern about the potential effects upon local water supplies if our State Significant Development (SSD) planning application for Marulan South Limestone is approved.

To clarify, at present the Limestone operations are supplied with water via a pipeline connected to the Tallong Dam reservoir. This has been the case for almost 40 years.

The SSD seeks to allow us to build our own water storage so we can reduce our reliance on the Tallong reservoir, and eventually stop using it altogether. We certainly are NOT looking to connect the new yet-to-be-approved storage to the Tallong Dam.

You can find out more about the SSD application by visiting our Boral Marulan website - www.boral.com.au/marulan.

Glossy Black Cockatoos

Boral Marulan south Operations had the pleasure partner with OEH, Wingecarribee Council and local Penrose residents to assist in the development of a vegetation corridor for the Glossy Black Cockatoos.

The Glossy Black Cockatoos have been identified as an endangered species primarily as a result of the loss of habitat. Council and OEH have a program to encourage landholders to provide land for vegetation corridors for future habiitat for the birds. Boral was able to participate and provide support in one such local planting.

Soldier On and support for Defence Forces transition

Boral support the promotion and transition of Defence Force personnel into our business.

In support of this, we work closely with Soldier On Australia, who provide support services for national service personnel and their families. One of their roles is helping national services personnel secure their futures in other work roles beyond defence.

Peppertree Quarry was host to representatives of Soldier On late in April to provide an understanding of the work roles available in Boral and Extractive Industries.

GeoCon Customer visit

On the 1st May 2019, 16 engineers from GeoCo visited Marulan South Operations.

GeoCon is a construction development company in Canberra, responsible for a number of the new high rise buildings being established in the city, and a key customer of Boral Country Concrete. The site inspection was part of the training program for the engineers to better understand the manufacture of concrete.
