Recent announcement from Victorian Premier Daniel Andrews regarding stage 4 restrictions

Following the business restrictions announced on Monday 3 August by Premier Dan Andrews, we will be adjusting our operations to ensure we meet the new requirements for the construction industry. Rest assured we are still open for business. We are working through the specific changes required by the newly-announced Government restrictions in Melbourne.

Keeping customers and our people safe

Over the past months we have already made significant adjustments to stay ahead of our safety and hygiene site requirements. Concrete, quarry and asphalt customers can now all access their docket information in digital form. Should you not have access to this functionality and wish to do so please contact your Boral sales representative. We are working through a similar solution for our bulk cement customers which we will communicate to you soon.

For our concrete customers, you now have access to ordering online – at anytime, anywhere – including from the comfort of your home office. This can be done via Boral Connects.

All drivers continue to wear masks and appropriate PPE for deliveries, and the majority of our staff continue to work remotely as per the Premier's recommendation.
